

Abstract of the Disclosure

The present invention includes a pharmacologically acceptable composition for ingestion by a mammal, having a first ingredient including a hormone or a substance which stimulates production of a hormone, such as testosterone or growth hormone. The composition also may include a second 5 ingredient which stimulates the production of cyclic GMP. The second ingredient may also be Morinda citrifolia or an extract thereof. The composition of the present invention increases levels of a hormone with a body.